Dana Enfinger

Content Developer, News/Social Media

Dana Enfinger writes destination stories and features, as well as supervises the news effort at Meetings Media.

Previously, Dana served as a daily newspaper reporter, professional belly dancer, Air Force police officer, media specialist for Target Stores and writer and editor for two other B2B publishing companies, though not necessarily in that order.

Dana helped her team at Affordable Housing Finance win two Jesse H. Neal Awards. The award is considered the Pulitzer Prize of the business media. Her poetry has been honored by the University of Tampa.

Her interests include traveling, creative writing, dancing and watching nature programs, and particularly anything having to do with bears. She is originally from Florida.
