

Ruth A. Hill

Contributing Editor

Ruth A. Hill has written about the travel and hospitality industry from her Washington, D.C.-area base for 15 years. She reports about industry trends and news from destinations throughout the U.S., Canada and Mexico. Hill's prior journalistic experience was inside the telecommunications industry and the national political scene. She was a press assistant to a U.S. Senator, a corporate editor and a small business owner. Other credentials include an M.S. in Communications from American University and membership in the Society of American Travel Writers.

Contact: mail@ruthahill.com